Assistant Sydney

Who We Are

- We are experts in Executive Office Support recruitment. We understand that high quality administrative support is fundamental to the smooth running of any organisation.
- Assistant Sydney was established in 2017 with a single strategy of providing sophisticated, professional and reliable Executive Office Support recruitment services.
- We are a team of 7 specialised experts who work with a focus on one objective. We are here to support both our clients and candidates in navigating an increasingly competitive and challenging employment market.
- We understand there are many Executive Office Support recruitment firms. We are one of the few firms that focus purely on this space, and we are passionate about what we do. We believe that over time we will continue to earn our reputation for being empathetic and authentic recruiters who provide accurate, consultative and consistent advice.

What We Do Differently

- We methodically headhunt and search to identify candidates that may be suitable for our clients. Our approach is discrete, professional and focused.
- We build personal relationships with the best Office Support talent across Sydney to ensure our clients benefit from our knowledge of people.
- We provide our clients with a single point of contact for all their recruitment needs. We know our clients are busy and would prefer to build a long-term relationship with one single person at Assistant Sydney.
- Our expertise is focused on one job vertical, being Executive Office Support recruitment.
